Buechel Couple—Bride and Groom

Maintaining a 2-to-1 lead in the tabulations of S. J. S. Sunday morning, it appears that the anti-Communist alliance in that country has headed off the reds. As this writer there seems to be no chance for the Communists to gain control of either house. Apparently their defeat means a lock-out of the new cabinet.

The importance of the Italian election this week cannot be over-estimated, according to world-shapers, for they point the way to other nations. The election returns, however, are only to be depended upon partly. There will be aftermath, experts say.

The international political pot boils. It is almost running over. While more risks may be expected from time to time there will be a lull. The two big bargainers are Russia and the United States. The others count for little until the really "Big Question" is settled. This question is believed, and will be settled—without war, for no one wants war. Future time may bring money for another war. Rehabilitation and peace is the order of the day, and it ought to be possible to gain both with intelligence, the proper effort.

The resolution was drafted by Attorney James T. Robertson, who is president of the Louisville Christian Circle League.

The band concert which has been arranged for public entertainment at the Jeffersontown High School Saturday night promises for its patrons a happy occasion. This extraordinary affair is one whose promotion is launched by the fact that the school has a Popular support has been given in the contribution of a varied assortment of the school's surplus articles to be disposed of by auction, the proceeds of which will be used for the band's worthy enterprise. While it is possible for those in Cincinnati's local range, with the proper equipment, to catch the broadcasts, the technical knowledge is not yet practical for intercession at this distance. No cessation of wonders in this age of science.

Jefferson County's HOME NEWSPAPER

Vol. 41 No. 49

40 YEARS AGO

"Wonderful has been the growth of Highland Park the last few years," The Jeffersonian says under headlines on Page 1, Thursday, April 16, 1908, forty years ago. Then its correspondent, Margaretha Adams, fills nearly a column, giving details of "The growth in the last few years has been wonderful," she affirms. "What was a short time ago pasture land has been built many handsome homes, and people from different parts of the state have moved in until our population is now more than two thousand. A number of factories have been erected, including the Louisville Fire Brick Works, the Chillicothe Tannery, the Factory, Gamble Bros. Planing Mill, the Edge Tool Works, and others giving employment to hundreds of men. Eight grocery stores were doing fine business—J. D. Joyce, G. H. Kuster, J. A. Green, W. E. Peters, Wesley Gilbert, John Brown, J. B. Dawson and John Swerman."

In addition, she writes, "We have here in Highland Park, two good schools, Fred Reichart and J. Raudman, which furnish us with most anything we need. The new school," she says, "is a beautiful structure of brick, three stories high and with modern conveniences. Six teachers are employed for the ten months, and four hundred children are enrolled. Highland Park," the correspondent writes, "is well supplied with physicians, among them, Drs. F. S. Cesma, J. B. Lakellett, James Lutz and J. C. Wootley, who see that our sick are well cared for."

Night riding was tried in Texas a few years ago. The story on Page 1, "but quickly stopped," asserts a contributor. Jeffersonian readers had been invited to join the Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Charles P. Weaver explained the reason for the home of Mrs. Sweeney. Mrs. A. V. Thomson was to be the hostess at the next local meeting. The death of J. C. Fink, at Wetstein Station, near Jeffersontown, was recorded, "at the age of 84."

Pratt Reynolds was building a double cottage on his lot at 284. There were other interesting activity in this neighborhood. The Jeffersonian was still going strong despite predictions of "the pessimists." With more than 2,000 readers weekly, it was presenting the news of a vast area in the county regularly.

Squire David McKinley was erecting a new three-room cottage in Jeffersontown. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Myers had moved into a new home at Main and Shelby. Experts said they had made careful examination and had found that fruit trees in the county were not injured by late frosts. Fred Lausman had sold his interest in a local store to his partner Andrew Hoffman, "who will continue the business."

In the somewhat torn and tattered issue of April 23, 1908, forty years ago, The Jeffersonian plays up the interesting meeting of the Farmers' Agricultural Society held at Harrods Creek. C. E. Hunt, president, presided and there were alert addresses. John E. Walters was vice-president and W. S. Kemp, secretary. J. L. Letterle, later to be known as "The Corn King" of Kentucky, was then alive, present at the meeting, and helped to arouse enthusiasm in programs to come. Future meetings were to be addressed by officers of the Kentucky Experiment Station, Lexington. Better corn was the chief topic under discussion. Kentucky was planning to improve on that grown in Indiana. Lightning struck the barn of J. W. Gilmore, four miles south of Jeffersontown and it was destroyed. Mr. Gilmore and a hired man received severe shocks and a team which they were driving ran away demolishing a farm wagon. Hay caught fire from the lightning stroke and the fire spread rapidly. There was a considerable grain loss. "A.B.C.," the newspaper's St. Matthews' correspondent, entertained at "The Hill-side," there. There were thirteen souls present and plenty of cash and conversation. "What were the topics discussed?" the correspondent asks. Then answers: "Ministers and church affairs. Household worries, childish cares; how to save the heathen hand; Jars of fruit for winter canned. Bonnets, dresses, ribbons, gloves, Shopping fun, young maidens' love. Though the men suppose, ahem! That they only talked of sheep."

SMOKE RINGS

By Charlie Vetterlin
Citizens of Jeffersontown are looking forward to April 28th. The reason for the anticipation is that gigantic recreation rally Chairman Bert Willis and his committee are staging.

There can be an all-purpose recreation building at the "Home of the Gentlemen" if [Town's] civic leaders get behind this big project.

Kinda miss seeing Mrs. Ann Krieger around but our loss is Jeffersontown's gain. Smoke Rings' best wishes go to Ann and Marshall as they provide another enterprise for Jeffersontown.

Wonder if that little Doris Jean Wigginton and her buddies are making their plans to be with the Jeffersonian playground when it migrates to Camp Summerlong for a week this summer? Camp Summerlong will take care of 140 young people each week and it's time now to start registering with Richard Van Hoose, Valley Station.

Here's a smoke ring for Stanley H. Weller, personable manager of Lighthouse Lake—Stanley goes Smoke's "Pipe of the Week" award for doing things unselfishly for others.

Stanley merits Smoke Ring's award because of the service he has rendered to the kids in and about the county and especially [Town]. Your pipe's on its way, Stanley.

Wonder how Bob Turner and Hallie got over that Western breakfast at K.E.A. Take it from Smoke Ring that one of Bob's hobbies is eating. Good thing Hallie knows how to cook.

While we are visiting at Fern Creek here's a bit of news—John Ramsey, president of the Lion's Club, is to head up the Creelers' "Pat" Lunk as his assistant.

Another good-looking "Long Charlie" Ruter will work the Buechel playground. Charlie's one of Okolona's pedagogues.

All local recreation committees please mark your calendars for Monday, May 10th. That's the last meeting the County-Wide Recreation Council will have prior to the opening of the summer playgrounds.

This County-Wide Council is a powerful unit composed of the most influential and hard-working people of the county. It's their work for children which has made for your Jefferson County Playground and Recreation Board grow.

alike in practically all sections of the county the locations of these tournaments are Middletown on the night of April 21 at Middletown, Clifton Heights at Worthington. Finals to be held at Middletown on the night of April 22. This is for the Junior Division. In the other end of the County on the night of April 22nd for the Lyndon and Anchorage. For the western end of the county Mill Creek School has been set for Penile, Fairdale and Cane Run. The winner meets the winner of the eastern group at Middletown on Friday, April 23. In the senior division Anchorage is the site of the tournament. Jefferson and Anchorage with the winners meeting the winner of the Fern Creek-Bainbridge tournament. The site of the finals will be at Fern Creek on Thursday night, April 23rd.

The next announcement is one of great magnitude. It is the announcement of the county-wide boxing tournament to be staged at the Jefferson County Armory on the night of May 16. It is all county-wide with all first prize boys expenses going to the polo fund. Irving Wayne is making the primary rounds. Roy Atee, boxing supervisor for the recreation board, promises that the cost will show with all the Negro boxers, who could well be future Joe Louis timbers.

Here's the final announcement of activities: baseball clinics for kids are scheduled at Buechel, Middletown and Shively before April 24 and running on consecutive Saturdays. Outstanding players from the Louisville Colored Baseball Team will conduct these clinics.

Through the kindness of Mrs. W. Q. Swearingen and daughter Miss Sue, Mrs. A. H. Fisher had the opportunity of visiting the Owens Funeral Home in Louisville, Sunday afternoon where the body of Mrs. M. H. Schindler was resting. She was the mother of Mrs. K. R. Dillon, the wife of a former pastor of the Mt. Washington Methodist Church. Mrs. P. Wigginton and Miss Porter were other guests in the Swearingen car.

Willis Motherhead had as all-day visitors Sunday in his home, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ray Motherhead and baby Brenda Sue. Mr. and Mrs. Elva Scrogam and little girl, Sandra Kay, Mrs. Fannie Motherhead and Franklin Motherhead of Louisville, Mr. and Mrs. Peacock and Robert Richardson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Travis and daughter, Doris of Clermont were Sunday visitors of Mrs. Maude Rothman and family.

We are glad to report Mrs. Erwin Koltz improving. She did not go to the hospital last week as we reported, as no room was available, but went three afternoons last week to the office of her physician, Dr. L. A. Taught where the needed treatments were given.

A. H. Fisher and wife spent Thursday with the Harley Proctor family. The ladies prepared a bed room.

Mrs. Welby Rexroat, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Kennedy, and Miss Grace Kennedy of Lebanon Junction, were luncheon guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. George Page.

Mrs. Vernon Motherhead was a recent day guest of her sister.

COLORED RECREATION
"The Voice of the Community"

We take this opportunity to thank the Jefferson County Recreation Board for making it possible for the people of this community to attend the second annual school for recreation leaders conducted by such a great person as Mrs. Ruth Garber Ehlers, from the National Recreation Association of New York City. I know I am expressing the sentiments of the group when I say we have a more abundant knowledge of recreation since being with Mrs. Ehlers.

We missed being with our little people last week. I have just returned from a visit with Newburg. There were ten boys and twelve girls present. Worden Dorsey was on the job. The children had an enjoyable time playing games, art, and singing.

On April 13 we visited Orell, who had attended the school and boys and about eleven girls. After working with them in arts and crafts games we left for Jeffersontown where we enjoyed music and folk dances.

No more for the present, we will be back in the same time and place next week—Mrs. Vivian Lanza.

We visited through Plants No. 1 and 2 and saw the plant machinery in operation.

The program was very interesting and instructive. Refreshments of brick ice cream and soft drinks were served to a short crowd the entire afternoon. Gold pins were awarded to all those who had been in service five years or more.

Little Sandra Smith has been quite ill. Dr. Schuch was called Thursday afternoon. She was given penicillin and at last reported seemed some better. She is the baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Smith.

The birthday cake, with four tiny candles graced the center of the table. Those to help celebrate were Mr. and Mrs. John Parris, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Parris, Mrs. Bettie Sue, Miss Susie Parris, Messrs. Curtis Baird and Roy Parris.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Carrithers had as dinner guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Marmillo, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Walbridge, and Mrs. Kate McArthur. Afternoon guests were Mr. and Mrs. Will Ladusaw, Mr. and Mrs. Will Pierson.

many people know how they operate, of what is their connection with politicians, the public officials, especially the police. He goes into a discussion of the services as a result of the recent bill offered in the General Assembly at Frankfort in its closing days to break this so-called "wire monopoly" conducted by Ferd Ambrusio through his exclusive "Tri City News Bureau." The bill was defeated in the closing days of the Legislature. Louisville bookies, he tells us, garner possibly an average of $500,000 a day, collectively, but this is not all profit. "Gits," he says, "net the bookies protection, but not full immunity." The police are aware that they exist, that Kentucky is like to "get their money on." The places are raided but there is no complete abatement. "Generally speaking," he says, "the police are inclined to view handbook operations as a necessary nuisance, and while contributions or 'gifts' are paid, they do not give a handbook 'absolute immunity.' The police know that 'handbook' is here to stay and to stamp out," he writes, "because, as long as there are people who want to make a bet, there will be others there to take that bet." The public, probably, would like to know more.

Sparks and Sundries

By Samuel H. Stuart

A correspondent in the Netherlands recently asked me for information as to President Truman's religion and I told him that I was a high school teacher informed her that our Chief Executive is a Catholic. Evidently the Dutch school teacher is not as well posted as a teacher should be or she would know that Truman is one of those who might say in the humorous phrase, "I'm a Baptist born, a Baptist bred and I'll be a Baptist 'til I die." Even an American teacher might be pardoned, however, for not knowing the church affiliation of many of our past Presidents.

Surprisingly, the Baptists have had only one other member to occupy the White House—the good or bad example of the country was their single contribution until Truman. The Baptists are ahead of three other denominations, though, and are even with one other, the Reformed Dutch, of which Van Buren and the first President of the United States, George Washington, were members. Of the other two, the Congregationalists (Coolidge), and Friends (Hoover).

All the other Presidents came from four churches, except the two who claimed membership in no denomination, Jefferson and Lincoln. Episcopalians came first with our first President, Washington, and the last elected President of this state, Franklin D. Roosevelt. In between they claimed as members, Madison, Gen. W. H. Harrison, Tyler, Pierce and Arthur. Presbyterians take second place with Jackson, Polk, Buchanan (on my mother's side), Cleveland, Ben. Harrison and Wilson. Unitarians, with the exception of the late John Adams, John Quincy Adams, Fillmore and Taft. In fourth place, Methodists can claim George Washington, Grant and McKinley as theirs.

In our last column we said that so far as an infected tick is concerned, it must "bite" a person to cause Spotted Fever. The word "bite" is hardly correct for a tick must feed to engorge with its blood for hours or longer, to transfer the infection, as a rule. "If the tick removed before it attacks itself or very soon thereafter—within two to four hours—the danger of infection is very much less," according to the National Institute of Health. Hence it is important to remove a tick from one's person as soon as possible and those who work in or travel through wooded areas (even city parks) should make a daily search for the insects.

If a tick is found crawling or imbedded it should be removed by the use of a piece of Mr. Arat's White and Green. The insect, or a pair of tweezers and burned. Tweezers should be disinfected with alcohol and the hands washed at once. Paint the spot from which the tick was removed with iodine.

Children, during the tick season, ought to be examined daily, not forgetting the scalp, a favorite hideaway. It is a sad story that even in states where the disease is most prevalent, like Montana, only one tick in 300 is infected. This shows that the danger of taking Spotted Fever is remote, but the disease is so serious that every precaution should be exercised to avoid infection.

In Australia, when one goes on a long tramp, he is said to be going on "a hump." In the United States the hiker has to "get a hump on."

KENTUCKY ON THE MARCH

NATURAL RESOURCES

A veteran geologist, more than forty years in the employ of a large corporation, was talking, and I was his audience. "Excepting coal, oil and fluorapatite, your minerals are a buried treasure—buried within easy reach of you—and you are doing next to nothing about it. Just over the Kentucky border, in Tennessee, rich deposits of iron, zinc, copper, phosphate and manganese are being mined and processed. Kentucky has as many minerals, if not more, than Tennessee." The geologist went into particulars. "Told me where many minerals are located. But part of the interview must remain confidential. If I repeated it there might be a lot of mineral lease grabbing—a gold rush stuff. At first I suspected the elderly scientist of stringing me for the fun of it. Or maybe he was sincere but slightly on the goofy side. But later it occurred to me that perhaps he was telling the truth. I remembered that if he had ever been much geological exploring outside of a new high school teacher informed her that our Chief Executive is a Catholic. Evidently the Dutch school teacher is not as well posted as a teacher should be or she would know that Truman is one of those who might say in the humorous phrase, "I'm a Baptist born, a Baptist bred and I'll be a Baptist 'til I die." Even an American teacher might be pardoned, however, for not knowing the church affiliation of many of our past Presidents.

Speaking of Tennessee, I had occasion the other day to call on a photographer in the State Department of Health offices in Memphis, and the hospital is a part of the University of Tennessee Medical College was as impressive as the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center in New York. One immense hospital building was nearing completion, and the steel skeleton of a new University Dental College building was ready for the brick masonry. Tennessee about Kentucky? Yes, considerably. For thirty years or longer Tennessee's public health institutions have received more official support than Kentucky's. And that goes for municipal and privately controlled institutions, also. Kentucky, stirred by the Committee of Kentucky's revelations, is determined to have a public health program as good as our own will justify. An uphill job, but we are on our way.

Many farmers fall readily for new things that promise big profits, especially if said new things are touted by the Department of Agriculture. Three of four years we heard kudu was a wonder crop. A few Kentucky farmers may have sown some kudu seed, but the promotion campaign petered out. Then along came 31 fescue. This rather recently developed grass was a wonderful crop and made excellent pasture. I saw fescue grow where hardly any other seed could survive. But I was skeptical about its nutritive value, and I told my neighbors so. Now tests by a big meat packing concern show that 31 fescue is rather low in nutritive value. Lardine clover is the newest heavy duty crop and I sowed some of it on heavy blunders and to satisfy County Agent H. R. Jackson. The results should be known this Fall.

I don't condemn new grasses, grains. I just wait until Experiment Station tests are confirmed by practical big-field demonstrations.

Boys and girls will do well to look again at what this old prophet was saying. We long to see our United States a truly great nation. Then let us be strong in the Lord.

GOD HAS A STANDARD
READ chapter seven, verses 1-17. It is a standard for the standards which God sets up for his people. "Execute true judgment, and show kindness and compassion every man to his brother. Oppress not the widow, the orphan, the foreigner, or the poor, and never put evil in your hearts against one another."

"Zachariah" here epitomizes the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount. All of which is to remind us today that we do not need new standards. We simply need to conform to God's eternal standards.

GOD IS TO BE SOUGHT UPON
THE first eight chapters of Zachariah have to do with the essential qualities of life if the people are to rebuild the temple. The last six chapters deal with the general standards of life which we must accept and strive to attain if we are to be well-pleasing to him.

I like the phrase of the fathers, "God is to be sought unto." And how are we to come into the presence of the Lord? "He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart; who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully." Psalm 24:4.

It was not enough to rebuild the temple. God wanted his people to become living stones of integrity and fidelity in the city of God.

We seek first the Kingdom of God and his righteousness—constantly seek this only walk with the Lord, in the light of his word.

"Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people." Psalm 133:1.

MY FRIEND'S HOME

By Lella Dowdy, Fern Creek
High School

The home now owned by John Trick is the reason for this report. Jean Robinson and I first visited this house, which is located two miles south of Fern Creek on Bardonia Road, at the request of Mrs. Scott, our English teacher. She had seen the house and being very interested, asked someone to write about it for the library book and I volunteered as I knew both Mr. and Mrs. Trick well.

"The house was built in two parts, the first being a crude one-room cabin built some time between 1816 and 1820. The original land, consisting of 10,000 acres, was given to Col. John Fleming for his services in the Revolutionary War by the Governor of Virginia. At this time this area now called the state of Kentucky belonged to the Territory of the Virginian Colony.

When James Catherine's granddaughter Mary married, she moved from her grandfather's stone home, which is now a part of the Ellingsworth land, to the cabin, building a large room downstairs and two smaller rooms above. Since two old cabins could not be easily connected, a dog trot was built between them—open at both ends. Now a modern kitchen is housed within these walls with the ends closed, of course.

And now, if you'll go with me I would like to conduct a personal tour for you. Upon entering the house, you would be confronted with the original door hanging upon its first hinges and fastened with the same lock and key it had when it was hung. The new-wed's threshold, when you gaze around the living room you see original hand-placed pine logs that were filled in with paper and paste when the Tricks first moved here.

The logs were nailed together by hand-made, three-cornered, iron nails.

The living room is furnished with an early American table, rockers, chest, and Jackson cup.

board. Over the red brick fireplace, which was originally made of stone, is a mitered mantle shelf. The logs, that are still visible with ax marks, are walnut, oak, poplar, and chestnut. In the corner cabinet stands in the one corner of the living room. In this we found many old dishes; such as a cream pitcher from Williamsburg, Virginia, and a hundred-year-old pickle dish. On one wall hangs a picture in a twenty-five-year-old, hand-carved frame. There are samplers in opposite sides of the walls. One dated 1822 reads:

"Dear little house

Dear shabby street

Dear books and beds and food

To eat

How feeble words are to express

The facets of your tenderness."

Another read like this:

"In this house

Ancient presences stand

There is no need

That they should speak."

Both of these samplers were written in Italian lettering, while the third was a simple one composed of the alphabet and the first ten numbers.

Now let us climb on our tour into the dog trot. And as I told you before, this has been converted into a kitchen with all modern facilities. The only touch of the past is the gourd, corn, tobacco, and peppers hanging on the wall.

To continue our little tour, let us go to the original cabin, which is now a bedroom. When first built, this cabin contained one door and no windows. There are dog trot was built between them—open at both ends. Now a modern kitchen is housed within these walls with the ends closed, of course.

And now, if you'll go with me I would like to conduct a personal tour for you. Upon entering the house, you would be confronted with the original door hanging upon its first hinges and fastened with the same lock and key it had when it was hung. The new-wed's threshold, when you gaze around the living room you see original hand-placed pine logs that were filled in with paper and paste when the Tricks first moved here.

The logs were nailed together by hand-made, three-cornered, iron nails.

The living room is furnished with an early American table, rockers, chest, and Jackson cup.

The boards are amazingly smooth to have been hand-planed.

I guess we have seen about all that there is in the bedroom. If you'll step into the next one, I'll try to give you a bird's-eye view of this place. Here is a washstand that belonged to Miss Woodrow, a descendant of Woodrow Wilson. It is a complete washstand set in it.

The bed is corded. By this I mean you are sitting on a complete washstand set in it.

Upon the wall we found two the place of slats and springs.

French prints from a style magazine dated 1881. Now let us descend the steps and leave this lovely old house with its gracious host and hostess. As we walked down the stone walk, we stopped for a minute under the ancient oak tree, and gazed back at the house that has taught us to respect what pioneer people could do.

THE TAX CUT AND YOUR INCOME

The new income tax reduction, enacted by the Republican Congress with help from Democrats in opposing President Hoover's veto, will take nearly 7% off the tax income of the tax payers. The tax cut below shows how much appreciable income the average family of four will have after paying taxes in 1948—based on the 1947 income tax returns for the year 1947. For instance, a man earning $2,500 income this year will pay less than one dollar more in taxes than he did last year.

Next Sunday morning, April 26, Rev. Roy Short will be the speaker on Methodist Hour at 7:30 p.m. over WHAS. Many of our readers remember Roy, who spent some summers here with his mother and brother, Stanley, and have kept in touch with him in his preaching career. He is now Editor of the "Upper Room" and we hear much talk and hopes of his future.

Several members of the local Baptist church attended a B. T. U. assembly at Bowling Green and remained for the night service to hear a sermon by Rev. W. A. Criswell, a former pastor here.

Some of the 75,000 ABC Pins Get Ready to Travel

Did you know that rules of the American Bowling Congress call for daily replacement of the bowling pins on its 40 tournament alleys? This means some 75,000 new pins are used in the course of the event. The practice seems that every team will compete under exactly the same circumstances. In the photograph above a girl is replacing a few of the discarded pins for distribution by Chevrolet truck to privately owned bowling establishments.

Bardstown Road News

By Mrs. Fielden Frederick

Bro. Wayne Spangler brought as usual, a splendid spiritual message to the Newburg Christian Church. Ninety-four were present in Sunday school. Plans are being made for the Mother's Day program, with Mrs. Julius Hart as chairman.

Our sympathy goes out to the daughter and son of Mrs. Grace Hughes Stivers in the loss of their good mother. She was the widow of the late Dr. H. P. Stivers, who was the physician in the community about thirty years ago.

The Buechel Circle met Tuesday with Mrs. Fielden Frederick to finish and bind two quilts, they have been working on for some time. The birthdays of Mrs. W. O. Lilly and Mrs. Henry Lentz were celebrated. The dinner table had as its centerpiece, a large white cake with lighted tapers. A devotional program was held in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lewis and Sharon and Randall were guests at dinner on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis in the West End.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. Robert Cook on the sudden death of his brother, Mr. Oscar Cook,

U.N. Facts and Faces VENEZUELA

DR CARLOS EDUARDO STOLK

The birthplace of Simon Bolivar—the great hero and liberator of much of Latin America—Venezuela is the northernmost country of South America. In the modern world, Venezuela has great importance as a first-ranking producer of petroleum. Coffee, cacao, sugar, coconuts and cotton are other important products of the country, whose climate ranges from steamy tropics to that of lofty mountains. Agriculture furnishes a livelihood for most of Venezuela's 4,500,000 people, who live on some 325,000 square miles of land. Venezuela is represented at United Nations headquarters by Ambassador Carlos Eduardo Stolk. Venezuela's flag has horizontal gold, blue and red stripes and a semicircular row of seven white stars in the center.

Say You Saw It In The Jeffersonian

Only 36¢ A Month For This Protection

PLENTY of light at night around your home is the surest protection there is against accidents and prowlers. Experts say you're much less apt to stumble in the dark and stub your toe, or black your eye or break a leg, if there's light to show the way. The police will tell you light is the burglar's worst enemy.

The protection of light costs so little you can't afford to be without it. You can burn a 60-watt lamp from bedtime to dawn every night for a month for only 36 cents . . . a fraction over a cent a night. Why not use one at front door or back door or in a hall?

The disciples had looked themselves in the upper room. Suddenly the risen Saviour stood in their midst (John 20:19). He passed through the bolted door. No bars of steel or planks of wood offered a barrier to the omnipotent God of the universe. The only locked door which can shut Him out is the bolted portal of the human heart. This He never forces. Through this He never passes. He says, "Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me." (Revelation 3:20). He asks admittance. He begs to be allowed to enter, but it is only when the will of man turns the lock, and flings wide the heart's door that God's Son will enter.

The great Sovereign of the universe will never force and override the will of any man. A man said to me on a train some time ago, "I don't believe in a god who would send me to hell. A god who would send me to hell."
